The school at this place, under the efficient management of Ina Yoakley principal, and Mrs. Georgie Rankin, nee Miss Georgia Middleton, assistant, is one of the banner schools of the district, and reflects much credit upon the efficiency and efforts of those two young ladies, both as regards qualification and discipline, the latter feature being prominently essential to success in the school room. The graded school at Keebler's Institute, hitherto conducted by Profs. S. W. Murray principal and S. T. Wilcox assistant, is now under the care of Prof. Wilcox as principal and Will Ferguson as assistant; Prof. Murray having resigned his position there to accept the position of County Superintendent, to which he was elected at the recent term of the County Court. We congratulate country with nervous dyspeptics?—that the Professor in his grand promotion, and feel assured that the Honorable County Court could not have made a wiser, more appropriate and prudent selection; he being one of the leading teachers and educators of the county, and exceptionally well qualified to creditably, faithfully and judicially perform the grave and responsible duties incident to this important office. He has been a life long resident of this district, and to his eminent intellectual ability, untiring energy and perseverence is largely due the intellectual and moral advancement of our community, and we bespeak for him unbounded success and prosperity in his new field of labor. Potash.

A trial of this plan costs but little and is sure to lead to profitable culture.

All about Potash—the results of its use by actual ex-periment on the best farms in the United States—is told in a little book which we publish and will gladly mail free to any farmer in America who will write for it. GERMAN KALI WORKS, 93 Nassau St., New York.

FREE HILL.

The health of our surrounding community is not so bad as last reported. Nice, plesant weather allows the idle farmer opportunity to work and many are plowing for corn. Hog cholera is near us, destroying what few the trader has left. From present indications bread and meat will be scarce and high priced before the next crop. Our schools are doing excellent work notwithstanding rumor says there is no money at present for the teachers. This we hope is untrue, for the pensions and school money is about all that can be had, and this brings us to suggest to the directors to employ home talent when possible and thus keep the money among us. Since your "Columbian Institute" report "Dhale" can't decide whether "C" (castigator) regards him a liar, thief or robber, or all combined; but Mr. Editor when I read your editorial commencing with "The lawless element," &c. I feel that the editor, at least, comprehended the true situation that night at Columbia, and I am sure Esquire Bowman understood it when he tried so often to prevent said "disturbing element" from climbing on and breaking down the patent school desks, and as for the "jam," all witnessed that which prevented your correspondent from getting sufficient knowledge to make a just report. I am no ways disposed to do Columbia's patrons nor teachers injustice. I understand those who saw and heard pronounced the exercises good, but in the part of the audience I occupied the disturbing element predominated. I only sought to leave the impression that night exercises were more or less damaging to school funiture and detrimental to good order. But "C" insinuates that he "might say some very funny things about school exercises around about Free Hill." Well, that is a significant threat, even if we leave visiting her sister at this place. The and each a part of the warp and woof off its ridiculousness. Would our night of eternity, and fraught with innumer- disturbances be so very funny to "C" able consequences. And, now, at the as a teacher, or as a spectator, or would outset of the new year, quite a good such a sickening exhibition tickle him? deal is said about hard times. What if so then he might have signed his communication a Crook, and he would be classed with the disturbing element at night school exercises. We have no aversion for entertainments, but for jams, jim-jams and presuming slopovers, no false report either. If there were no disorder and damage there that night then sights and sounds are deceiving. Yes, we have our troubles and the disturbers are not all from this community. Free Hill and Gravel Hill (Columbia) are subject to like troubles and night exercises afford the funny opportunity for those funny disturbances and damages which none but such call funny. The order loving friends of education think such disturbers should not be tolerated, nor the temptation by night exercises offered. School entertainments of the right kind should use daylight, as it is cheaper than oil. We now come to say, (though not there), that Mt. Zion M. E. Sunday School gave a most pleasant concert on Saturday, January 9. Opening song by the school; prayer by Rev. Geo. Tunnell; speeches by the school. Miss Shipley on religion was excellent. Some prohibition facts and figures by Sirs Depew and Barnes, and the schools at Union and Austin Spring boys-but the prohibition girls excelled anything ever put forth in the home again from a visit in Hawkins Twelfth District. Good will to all.

All persons in debt to me either by note or account will please come and make settlement of the same as the style of the firm will change soon. Respectfully,

It is a somewhat singular fact tha

the rarest of all noses is that found where one would naturally expect to find it-in the middle of the face. Tak-perpendicularly from a straight line

ing 100 heads at random, one will not find, on an average, more than three in which the bridge of the nose descends drawn exactly between the eyes. Two Readings. "Husband, what did the doctor say

"What!" "Well, he said you must stop doing so much church work and take tonic. Louisville Courier-Journal.
